

Photo of the Week

#572: Eye Rinse, Dish Drain, Whatever

Our contributor for this one pointed out that the sink beside the eyewash station was also full of dirty dishes, which cast doubt on the shop supervisor's claim that employees weren't eating in the shop (more doubt was cast by the fact that this was the third time the safety specialist found the same problem).

Once more for the record: This isn't how you test to make sure the eyewash station is working as advertised.

Want more?
<< Previous | Next >>

www.public.navy.mil/navsafecen