1. Purpose. To define responsibilities, eligibility requirements, and procedures for transfer of Active Component (AC) Service members under a military service obligation (MSO) to the Individual Ready Reserve (IRR)-Active Status Pool (ASP), Standby Reserve - Active (USNR-S1), or Standby Reserve-Inactive (USNR-S2).

3. Definition of MSO. Each person who entered initial military service on or after 1 June 1984 must serve a total period of 8 years from the date of enlistment, appointment, or (when authorized by law) induction. Any part of such service that is not active duty (ACDU) or initial active duty for training (ADT) must be performed in the Reserve Component (RC) as defined in sections 10101, 10142, 10143, 10145, and 10146 of reference (a). This may be served in the IRR-ASP, USNR-S1, or USNR-S2.

They may not receive pay, allowances, or travel allowances for any inactive duty training or ADT. They may be ordered to ACDU in time of war or national emergency if the Secretary of the Navy, with the approval of the Secretary of Defense, determines not enough qualified ready reservists are available in the categories required. Officers continue to be eligible for promotion consideration. Enlisted members in this category are not eligible for advancement, unless they are drilling with a voluntary training unit (VTU), and are not subject to current high year tenure gate restrictions for their pay grade. Service members of the USNR-S1 are subject to mobilization per sections 12301, 12302, and 12306 of reference (a).

5. Definition of USNR-S2. Service members of the USNR-S2 are in an inactive status. They may not participate for pay or retirement point credit. They may not be considered for advancement or promotion. If they have been selected for advancement or promotion, but have not been advanced or appointed to the higher rank or grade at the time of their transfer to the USNR-S2, their promotion or advancement will not take effect. Members of the USNR-S2 are subject to mobilization per sections 12301, 12302, and 12306 of reference (a).
