1. Background. Reference (a) governs the actions of every member of the Armed Forces during peacetime or combat, and demands high standards. To ensure the achievement of these standards, members of the Armed Forces are trained in the proper procedures when isolated, detained, surrounded, or cut off.

a. Strong, effective leadership, group loyalties, and esprit de corps must be fostered by every means. Each individual must be fully instructed in proper conduct and courses of action when faced with detention, capture, or as a prisoner of war.

b. Individuals liable to detention or capture must be provided with training designed to enable them to cope with exploitation efforts. Members must learn the methods by which exploitation can be resisted or avoided. Joint Personnel Recovery Agency is the Secretary of Defense Executive Agent for overseeing the code of conduct training within the Department of Defense.

c. Survival, evasion, resistance, and escape (SERE) instructor duty is physically and mentally challenging.

d. SERE duty locations are:

(1) Center for Security Forces Detachment North Island, San Diego, CA; and

(2) Center for Security Forces Detachment Kittery, Kittery, ME.

e. Access additional information at:

(1) <https://www.netc.navy.mil/centers/csf/Where.htm#tab7> for CENSECFOR DET North Island; or
