

Greetings Center for Surface Combat Systems' Families,

My name is Angel Boily, CSCS Command Family Ombudsman. I've been asked by the Commanding Officer to serve as a communication link for you and the command.

As a career Navy wife, I've experienced many of the joys and challenges that come with being part of a Navy family. As Ombudsman, I am your advocate; a trained information and resource referral specialist here to assist you and your family in making the most of your assignment to CSCS.

As your Navy neighbor, I look forward to sharing a wonderful tour together, however, should challenging times arrive, I'm ready to support and will provide you with all of the resources available to you as part of the Navy family. Should you find an occasion where I can be of assistance, please feel free to contact me via phone or email (below) and rest assured, I strictly follow the guidelines of confidentiality as required by the Navy Family Ombudsman Program.

Throughout our time together, I will be sharing with you, via email and phone, information such as the latest MWR and FFSC events, classes, and more. I recognize your time is valuable, so to assist you in determining what information best suits your needs and / or interest, I will do my best to accurately describe in the subject line what information the email contains.

I look forward to the pleasure of supporting Center for Surface Combat Systems' families.

Respectfully,

Angel Boily, Command Family Ombudsman
